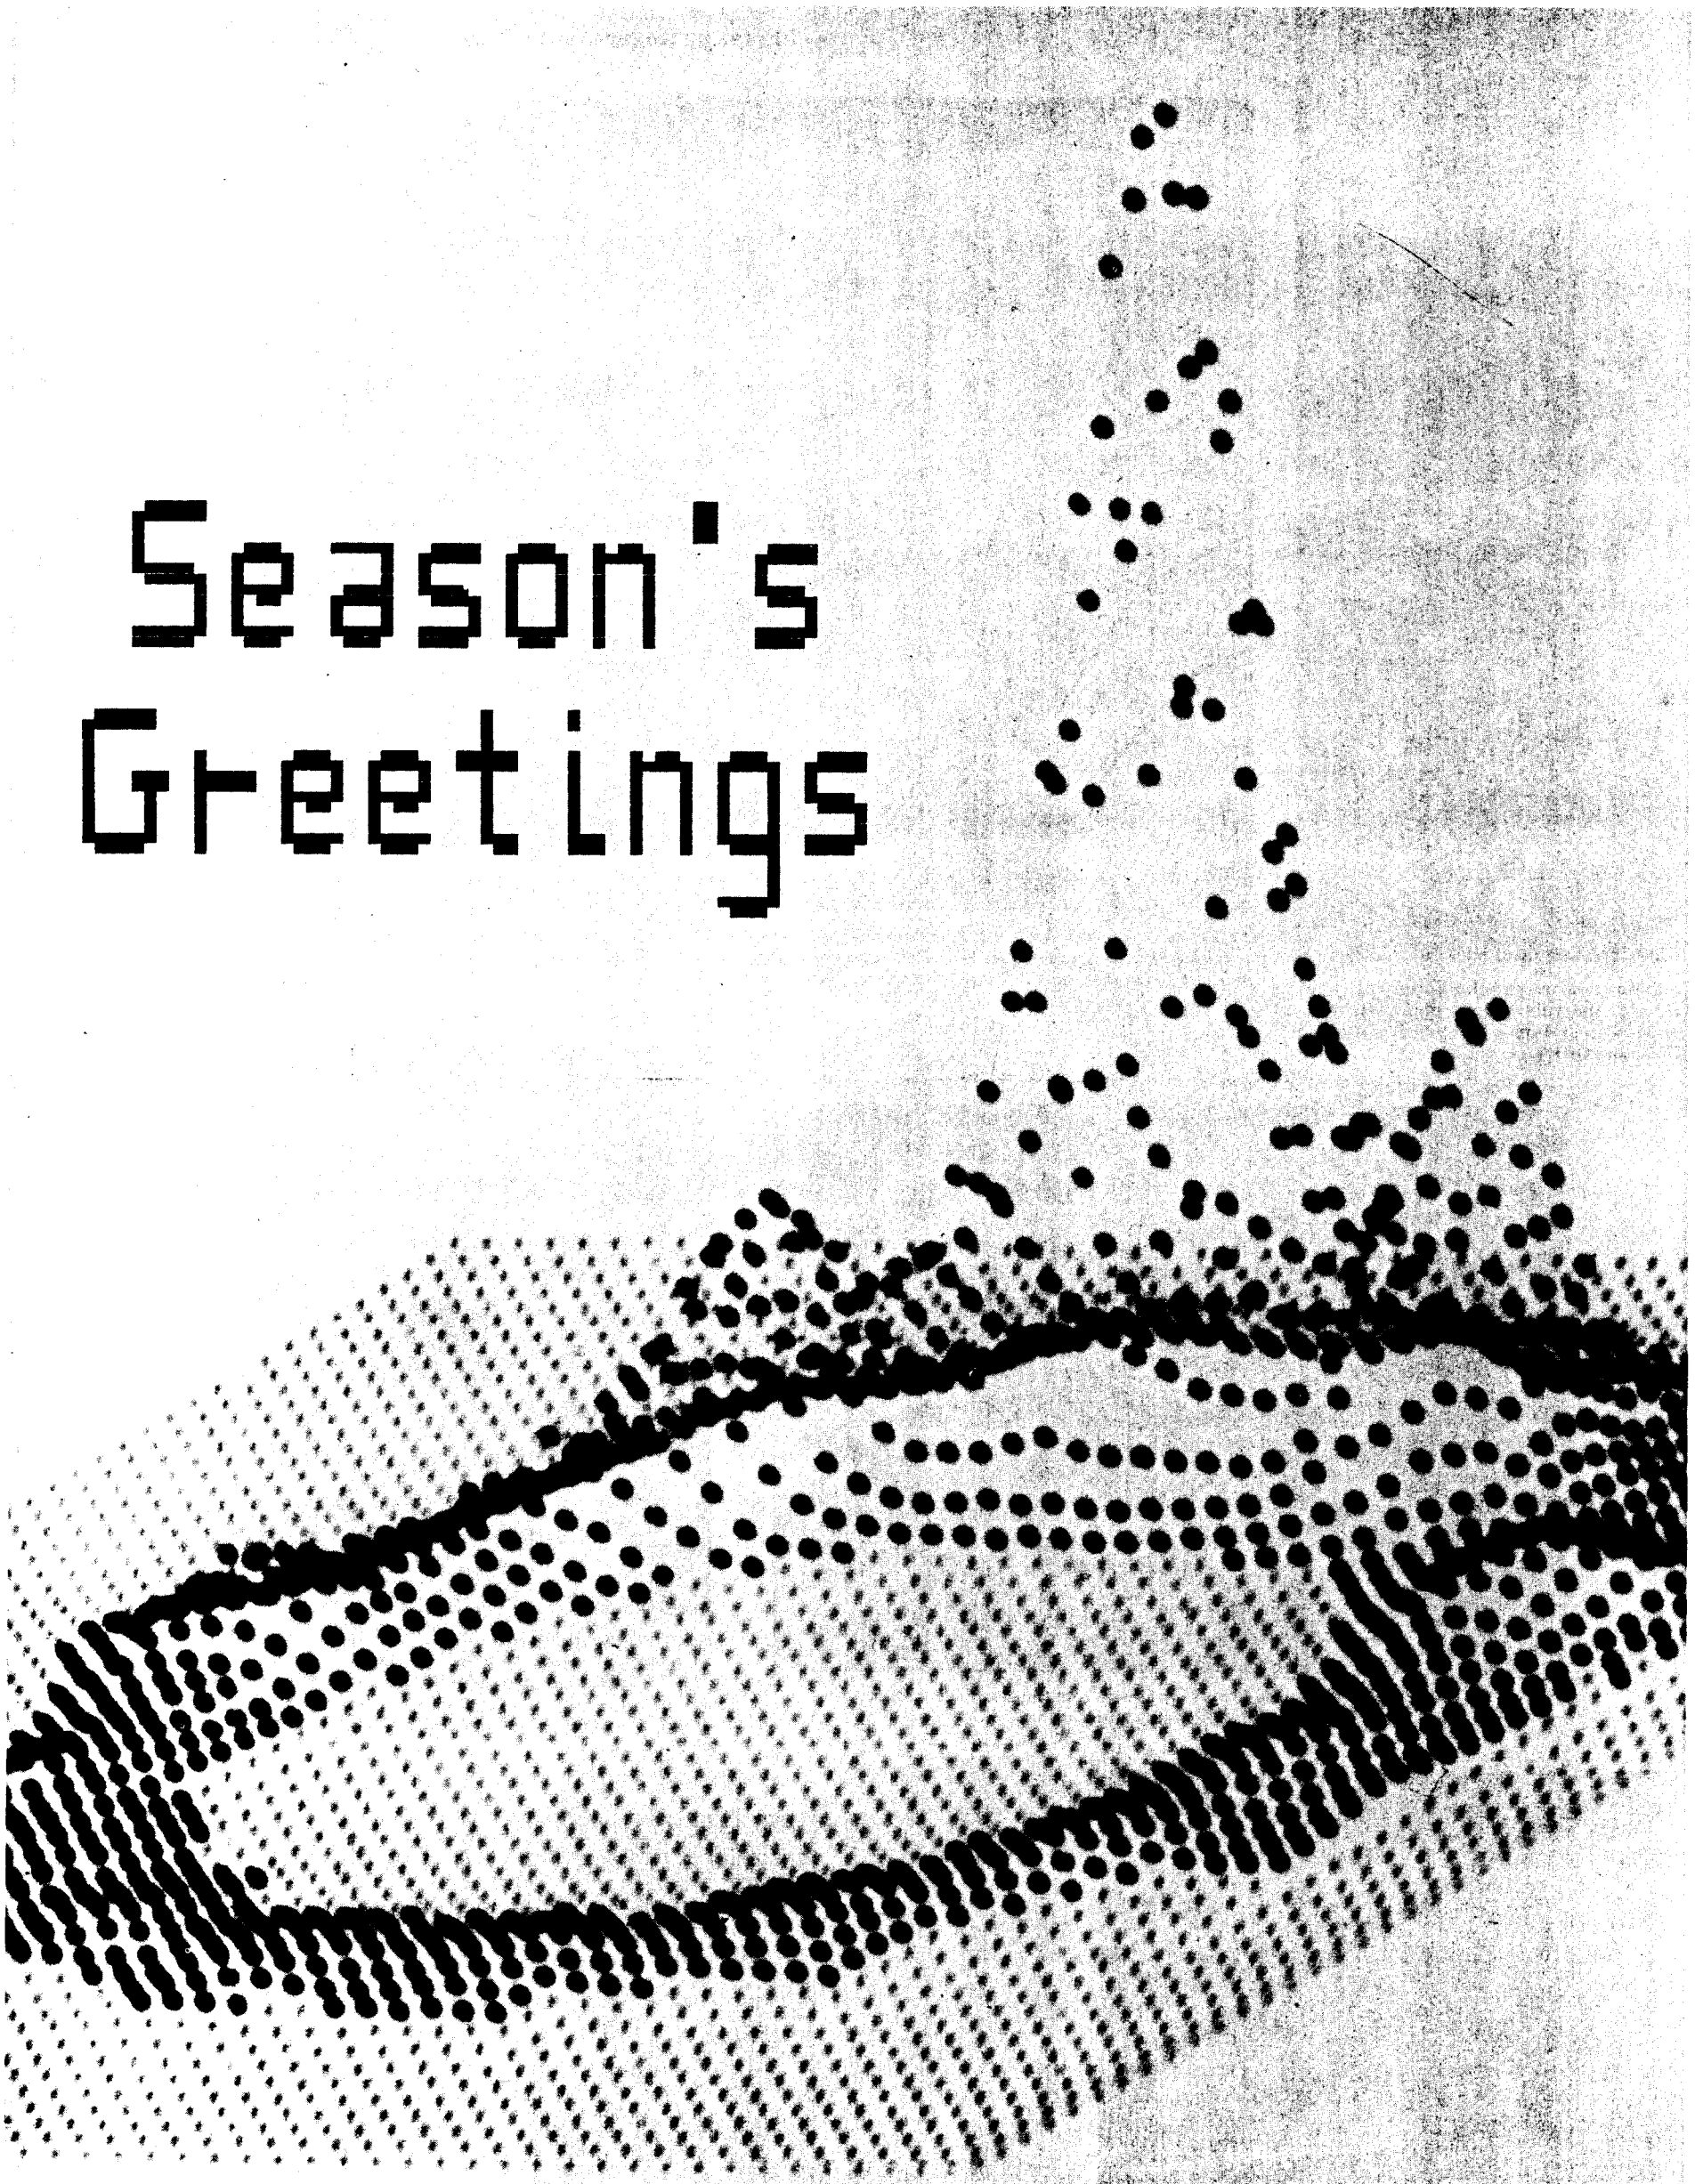
BROOKHAVEN NATIONAL LABORATORY

Season's Greetings



The Bulletin's fanciful Christmas tree is actually a three-dimensional pattern created by a proton beam passing through a very thin silicon crystal. Physicists studying the structure of crystals used BNL's 3.5-MV Van de Graaff for this experiment.

Holiday Decor at BNL

Standing under a genuine holly-wood star, Harriet the rubber tree plant has been dressed up by Janice Lamb to decorate the Directors Office.

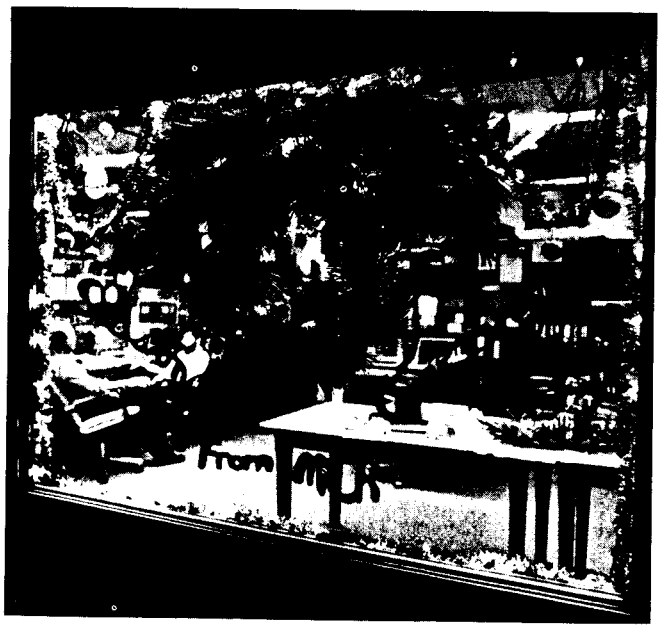
This cozy corner in the Illustration room at Photography & Graphic Arts began with the transformation of supervisor Whitey Caiazza's light table into a fireplace. Caiazza later showed up as Santa to fill the group members' stockings.

Welcome to Public Relations.

The Composition Group in Photography & Graphic Arts reproduced some of the symbols available on their type fonts to create their tree decorations.

This angelic choir spreads holiday cheer from the staircase railing in the Chemistry building.

A few years ago, Sonja Santos began to set up her Smurf collection as a holiday decoration in the National Nuclear Data Center (NNDC) office she shares with Marion Blennau. This year, the Smurfs were joined by four peacocks donated by Enchen Zhou and Junde Huo, who are visiting the NNDC from the Peoples' Republic of China.



The lights of the control panel are muted behind the decorations lighting up the window in the Main Control Room of the AGS.

Snap (Carol Beckner, center), Crackle (Marie Hicks, right) and Pop (Helen Keeley, left) work in the Research Library, in Serials (Cereals), where Beckner is the supervisor and, says Keeley, "We all Snap to attention." Keeley was nicknamed Pop, "because I make the most noise," and Hicks happily assumed the role of Crackle to complete the trio.

From Personnel

Dental/Medical

Employees who elected the AUI Dental Assistance Plan are reminded that effective January 1, 1984, they and their eligible dependents will be subject to a major medical calendar year deductible of $200 per individual ($500 per family) under the AUI Medical Insurance Plan.

Also effective January 1, 1984, employees enrolled in the Blue Cross/Blue Shield HMO Plan (CHPS) will be charged a premium of $2.08 a month (48¢ weekly) for employee only coverage, and $5.20 a month ($1.20 weekly) for family coverage. These premiums are the amounts equal to the difference between the cost of the current $100 a year deductible and the new $200 a year deductible fro the AUI Medical Insurance Plan.

Retirement

Employees currently making voluntary contributions to the regular TIAA—CREF retirement plan are reminded that December 30, 1983, is the deadline for changing their contributions to another TIAA-CREF account, or to one of several Mutual Fund options.

If a new salary reduction agreement or payroll deduction form is not received in payroll by December 30, the employee's contribution to the regular TIAA-CREF retirement plan will be automatically cancelled and included in the next paycheck. TIAA-CREF and Mutual fund applications and other necessary forms are available in Personnel. For further information, call Personnel services, Ext. 7516.

The Occupational Medicine Clinic will close from 12:30 p.m., December 23, to 8:30 a.m., January 3, except for regular working hours on December 28, 29 & 30. In an emergency, call Ext. 2222.

A Good Deed Is Its Own Reward

Most people operate by the "finders keepers" rule. However, Wilbur Bailey of Staff Services is an exceptional exception. Within December, Bailey happened upon over $11,000. Rather than pocket the money, Bailey chose to find the owners, and return it to them. Instead of weeping over their losses, two people can be thankful that, as one of them put it, we still have people like Wilbur Bailey in this world.

On Friday December 2 while at his bank in Coram, Bailey saw a wallet "just lying on the counter. I picked it up, and noticed it was full of bills. I counted the money -- there was over $500 in cash. I asked a teller if anyone had reported that they had lost their wallet. She said yes, another teller had. She called him over to her window, and I handed the wallet over to the gentleman. I didn't even get a hand shake."

Undaunted by the lack of appreciation, Bailey repeated his good deed by returning a $10,573 check the following Friday. On December 9, he was walking from his car to a Middle Island stationery store when he spotted a white letter sized envelope in the parking lot. "I almost didn't pick it up, but I changed my mind because I tend to pick up things," says Bailey. "I put it in my pants pocket, and forgot all about it until I was cleaning out my pockets at home." Inside the envelope was the big check.

Not trusting his eyes, Bailey asked his wife Daisy to look at the check, and she confirmed that the amount he thought he saw was the actual amount printed on the check. The check was drawn on the account of Elite Liquors. Since Bailey was going to his bank in Coram, he stopped in Middle Island to return the check.

"When I went into the store, I showed him the envelope, but he didn't recognize it. So I showed him the check, and was he surprised. He said that his boss lost it that afternoon."

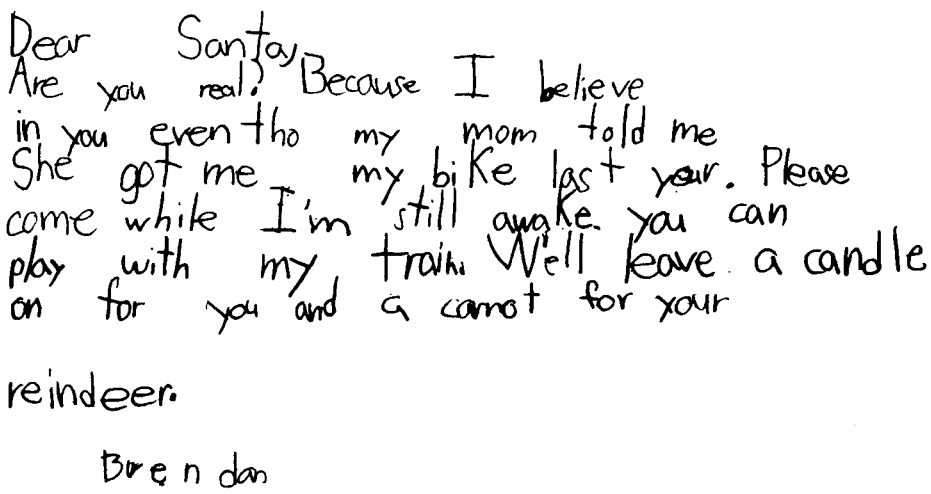
Mort Rosen

Wilbur Bailey

"We appreciated Bailey's returning the check to us," says Joseph Chaikel, owner of the liquor store. "Though no one could have cashed it since it was made out to a corporation, we would have had to go through the trouble of stopping the check and would never have known what happened to it."

Bailey, an employee of the Lab for 24 years on December 12, says his conscience is clear, and that he feels proud. "I've found a lot of things here at the Lab, expensive jewelry and large bills, and I've always tried to find the owners."

— Marsha Belford



Dear Santa,
Are you real? Because I believe in you even tho my mom told me
She got me my bike last year. Please come while I'm still awake. you can play with my train. We'll leave a candle on for you and a carrot for your reindeer.

Brendan

We regret we are unable to print all the Santa letters due to lack of space. So we are publishing the above as representative of those received, and as a reminder that innocence is still abroad in the land. If the parents of children who sent in letters will drop by the Bulletin office at Bldg. 134A, we have a small treat for the letter-writers.

Hospitality News

The Hospitality Committee's next monthly get-together will be held Tuesday, January 3, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., at the Brookhaven Center. Jane Liszka, the guest speaker, will demonstrate the art of making tatting (handmade lace).

All wives of Laboratory employees, guests and visitors are welcome, and babysitting will be provided free of charge. Coffee, tea and danish will be served.

Living Trees

The Cooperative Extension Association of Suffolk County offers these tips for having a living tree at Christmas time and planting it later outdoors:

- When selecting a tree, check the root ball for firmness around the tree trunk and for unbroken soil. Choose one that can withstand the warm, dry air inside for a short time. Recommended species are Colorado blue spruce, Black Hills spruce, Norway spruce, Douglas fir and Fraser fir; not recommended are evergreens with delicate needles or those that require a cold damp climate (Canadian hemlock, white cedar, white and black spruce, white pine and balsam fir).
- Wrap the root ball in plastic while in the house to keep it moist and prevent floor damage. Put the tree in a tub-like container.
- Keep the tree indoors as short a time as possible.
- After the holidays, put the tree in a garage or unheated room for a week to ten days to acclimate it to the cold outdoor temperatures before setting it out.
- A few weeks before planting, dig the hole or cover the area with a heavy mulch to prevent freezing. Keep dug up soil at above freezing temperatures.
- After proper acclimation, plant the tree, water it well, fill in the soil, water it again, then mulch it heavily over the winter. Or put the tree and tub in a protected place (a garage or sheltered corner of a porch away from sun and wind), and plant in late March.

Placement Notices

The Laboratory's placement policy is to select the best-qualified candidate for an available position, with consideration given to candidates in the following order of priority: (1) present employees within the department, with preference to those within the immediate work group; (2) present employees within the Laboratory as a whole; and (3) outside applicants. In keeping with the Affirmative Action plan, selection decisions are made without regard to age, race, color, religion, national origin, sex, handicap or veteran status.

Each week, the Personnel Office lists new personnel placement requisitions. The purpose of these listings is, first, to provide open placement information on all non-scientific staff positions; second, to give employees an opportunity to request consideration for themselves through Personnel; and, finally, for general recruiting purposes. Because of the priority preference policy stated above, each listing does not necessarily represent an opportunity for all candidates. As a guide to readers, the listings are grouped according to the anticipated area of recruitment.

Except when operational needs require otherwise, positions will remain open for one week following publication date.

For further information regarding a placement listing, contact the Personnel Placement Supervisor, Ext. 2882.
