Football Kick Scores New Car for Retiree

An-na! An-na! An-na!

Imagine that you are Anna Grego, and you are standing in the middle of New Jersey's Meadowlands stadium during halftime of a Jets football game, hearing the sold-out crowd of almost 70,000 chant your name over and over because you just kicked a football through the goalposts to win a new car.

Anna Grego

BNL retiree Anna Grego doesn't have to imagine it — she did it — on Sunday, October 22.

"It was unbelievable," says Grego. "Until two days before, I'd never held a football in my life."

Two days before, Grego had been notified that she was one of six people in the tri-state area to be chosen to participate in the Million-Dollar Kick contest. She had entered the contest in a supermarket and says, "When I signed my name, in the back of my mind, I was thinking that, if I was chosen, my son-in-law would kick for me."

But when it turned out that substitutes were against the rules, Grego began to practice, coached by her husband George and son-in-law Richard Materi, who is married to the Gregos' daughter Georgeanne, a former Division of Contracts & Procurement employee. The Gregos' son Robert is now working in the Alternating Gradient Synchrotron Department.

Despite her preparation, when Grego met her five male opponents on the field, the 61-year-old former custodial supervisor didn't think she had a chance. And no one was too sure about the Jets either — they were in the middle of a scoreless game with the Miami Dolphins.

As it turned out, Grego's name was not picked for the one million-dollar kick from the 30-yard line, and the man who kicked missed. So everyone's name was pulled to determine the rotation in which they would kick for a car. Grego was number four.

All six contestants missed from the 20-yard line, so they lined up again at the 10. "That's when it happened," Grego recalls. "It just went over. I tell everyone there had to be an angel on the end of the football field."

At first, Grego didn't know if her kick had cleared the goalpost. "But when the crowd started screaming, I felt like Joe Namath," she says.

As the only contestant to kick a goal, Grego was the winner. The contest organizers wanted her to drive around the field's perimeter in the 1996 Mercury Sable that was on hand, but she was too shook up to take the wheel.

Just as overwhelming as kicking the goal was the crowd's reaction to it. "They screamed and chanted 'An-na! An-na! An-na!' " she says. "The other guys were so happy for me, and, when I got back to my aisle, everyone stood up. And since then all my old friends from the Lab have been calling."

Grego has also heard from many reporters, and she even got a call from a Minneapolis talk show host who credited her with inspiring the Jets to the victory they ultimately won that day.

"I thought getting married or becoming a grandmother for the first time was the best day of my life. But this was the best day of my life," Grego concludes, "something I will never forget."

Grego, who retired in 1992 after 13 years at the Lab and lives in Shoreham, has another great day coming: The day she chooses a Mercury dealer and then picks up her new car in the color and model of her choice!

He Hasn't Retired From Firefighting

Much of the Brookhaven Bulletin of September 1 recounted the exploits of BNLers involved in the major brushfires that raged through the area at the end of August. As the Bulletin was then unaware of any retirees who might have helped fight the fires. to all whose bravery has gone unmentioned in the Bulletin, thank you. Here is the story of one retiree's adventures, as told to us in a letter from his wife Winnie Thomason:

Phil Thomason

One of BNL's own, retired AGS rigger, 63-year-old Phil Thomason, was injured about two hours into the Westhampton fire August 24. He and two other 40-plus-year veterans of the Center Moriches Fire Department answered the first alarm for mutual aid from the Eastport Fire Department.

Phil and his fellow firemen were on a tanker truck at Sunrise Highway when the flames leaped overhead and jumped south of the highway to the trees and grass below. Needing more water, they drove to hydrants on Highway 31. Phil attempted to get out of the passenger side but missed his footing and fell three feet, landing on his back and head on the blacktop road.

He was taken to Central Suffolk Hospital by the East Quogue ambulance. After several x-rays, the prognosis was bruised but painful ribs. His head x-ray was OK, and, as he jokingly says, "They found nothing there."

On Saturday, August 26, in much pain, he requested that I take him back to the emergency room. More x-rays proved that he was on the verge of pneumonia, and penicillin was prescribed.

While Winnie Thomason has since reported that Phil is fully recovered, she also wrote, "As his wife, I hope he will leave fighting the BIG fires to the younger generation."

Miles of Smiles

Joe Yelk and "Miles of Smiles"

Joe Yelk retired from the Physics Department earlier this year, but he's still got something he purchased the first year he started working here: "Miles of Smiles," his aqua 1967 Rambler American.

For $2,379.50, Yelk became the proud owner of a "true commuter car" — a two-door hardtop with a small, six-cylinder engine, about 2.2 liters. It came with a 50,000-mile warranty and still gets about 25 miles to the gallon.

Some 88,000 miles and 28 years later, "Miles of Smiles" is still going strong. And Yelk, who is an active member of the BERA Antique & Classic Motoring Club and who says he is really enjoying his retirement, still brings the car to club meets.
