

Lim-Seok Chang
BROOKHAVEN NATIONAL LABORATORY

I have been in BNL for one year as a research associate in Environmental Science. I got my doctorate degree from Seoul National University in Korea. My concern is how to predict the effect of anthropogenic pollution on our environment. Currently, I am involved in Atmospheric Science Program which focuses on the aerosol radiative forcing of climate.

I hope ASAP will be more helpful to all students and post-doc.