BROOKHAVEN NATIONAL LABORATORY

Hedrick Smith to Speak at BNL

From his vantage point as Chief Washington Correspondent of The New York Times, Hedrick L. Smith will give a lecture on "The View from the Potomac" at 8:30 p.m. on December 14 at Berkner Hall. This 29th AUI Lecture is free and open to the public.

Smith is familiar with both domestic and international issues. From 1959-1962, he was with United Press International, covering Tennessee and Atlanta and space shots at Cape Canaveral. During his first year at The New York Times (1962-63) he covered Washington and civil rights in the South.

His career on the international front has included Saigon (1963-64); the Middle East (1964-66); and Moscow (1971-74). For his coverage of the U.S.S.R. and Eastern Europe, he received the 1974 Pulitzer Prize for international reporting in international affairs. His years as Moscow Bureau Chief for The Times also led to his writing the book "The Russians" which won an Overseas Press Club Book Award in 1976.

Smith's 20-year career at The Times also included a year as Special Correspondent for Vietnam Talks in Paris; Diplomatic Correspondent (1967-69 and 1970-71); Deputy National

Hedrick Smith

News Editor (1975-76); Washington Bureau Chief (1976-79); and he has been Chief Washington Correspondent since 1979.

Recently, Smith co-authored the book "Reagan, The Man, The President." In 1972 he was a member of the Pulitzer Prize-winning team of The Times that produced The Pentagon Papers and a co-author of a book by that title. He may be seen frequently on the Washington Week in Review television program on PBS.

A Message From the Director

The Laboratory has decided to pursue the goal of creating a facility for relativistic heavy ion physics research with capabilities unmatched at any other institution.

As an initial step, BNL has proposed to the Department of Energy a project to provide a link between the Tandem Van de Graaff and AGS facilities, and the AGS will be modified to accelerate heavy ions. If approved on the schedule requested, this project will be completed in 1985 and used for physics research by FY 86. Eventually, it could be combined with a Relativistic Heavy Ion Collider to be located in the CBA tunnel. Construction of such a collider could start in 1986 and be completed by 1989, at a cost of approximately $200 million.

This choice of a new direction for Brookhaven's future was based primarily on the recognition that there is an increasing interest in accelerating heavy ions to relativistic energies. In fact, the area of physics to be pursued, quark matter physics, while not fitting neatly into the existing high energy or nuclear programs at BNL, is of interest to both areas of physics. Furthermore, its pursuit will contribute to a broadening of collaboration between the two areas.

The physics questions to be addressed by such colliding beams range from the continuation of current studies of relativistic heavy ion reaction mechanisms and dynamics, to the formation of fundamentally distinct forms of matter. Observations and study of this new form of strongly interacting matter would clearly have a major impact, not only on nuclear and elementary particle physics, but also on astrophysics and cosmology.

This area of physics has received enthusiastic support from DOE's Nuclear Science Advisory Committee, and the Laboratory has recently submitted a Relativistic Heavy Ion Collider feasibility study to DOE.

To prepare a detailed design proposal for this collider, a task force has been named by Paul Reardon, Associate Director for High Energy Facilities. Mark Barton will serve as chairman and Harald Hahn as technical coordinator. Group leaders are:

Accelerator physics — Alessandro Ruggiero (Fermilab)
Collider systems — Harald Hahn
Tandem-AGS transfer — Don Barton
Accumulator booster — Y.Y. Lee
Pre-injector system — Peter Thieberger
Physics issues and detectors — Tom Ludlam
Administration — Larry Turf

The Laboratory is in an excellent position to assume a worldwide leadership role in this new and growing specialty of physics research.

Too Close to Home

The impact of the series of explosions that destroyed the Grucci fireworks factory on Saturday November 26 and killed two members of the Grucci family was felt by a number of the 150 BNL employees living in Bellport. Relatives were killed, property was damaged, and those who experienced the blasts were shaken.

"Jimmy was my first cousin," says Joanne Roys, Nuclear Energy Department, of the late James Grucci, 42, son of the fireworks firm founder Felix Grucci, Sr. "I was at home when the first explosion occurred, and at first I thought a plane had crashed. But when the second blast went off, I knew it was my uncle Felix's place." As Roys walked to the site, she met her uncle who told her, "Jimmy's gone."

Maryann Reynolds, Safety & Emergency Services, felt the rumble, and saw the mushroom cloud from a friend's house in Brookhaven. "My husband Ed, who's a firefighter with the Bellport Fire Department, was at our home on Fuoco Lane, three blocks from Grucci's. He saw it out our kitchen window, and went right to the scene with his camera." Ed Reynolds, the official Bellport Fire Department photographer, recorded on film the complete destruction. He continued photographing on the 3 to 7 a.m. night watch.

Brian Briscoe, Accelerator Department, who lives on Susan Drive, was in his living room watching T.V. "When the first explosion went off, I thought the end of the world had come. After the second blast, I looked out and saw red, green, and blue streamers falling from the sky. I then knew Grucci's had blown." Briscoe's garage floor cracked around the perimeter, four of his front windows and the storm door were blown out, and second floor ceiling tiles came off.

"My wife, three kids, and I were evacuated, and we went to my mother's house. Around 1 p.m., my wife and I returned at our own risk to our house to inventory the damage." While they were home, they were barraged with phone calls from concerned relatives. They left the house, but returned at 4 p.m. because they were afraid of their home being looted.

John Fuhrmann, Physics, is thankful that he purchased his home on the south corner of Maple Avenue. "Our house has some damage: the north wall has shifted, and lots of windows were broken. But at the north end of Maple Avenue, the houses are devastated. Those houses must be razed and rebuilt. My neighbors are living in trailers right now."

Fuhrmann, an EMT volunteer with the Bellport Ambulance Squad, was in a Bayport lumber yard when he heard about the disaster on a firefighter's radio. "I heard code 51, and I knew that was Bellport. Then I heard signal 23, and I knew that meant fire and explosion. So I drove over, and was let through because I had my ambulance jacket with me. I never caught up with my company, but I worked around the block with any group that needed help."

John Bookless, DAS, lives about a mile from the plant on Maple Street. "I was on Academy Lane helping Ed MacDougall, Nuclear Energy Depart-

Retirement Plan Modified

Effective January 1, 1984, Associated Universities, Inc. has qualified its regular TIAA-CREF retirement plan under IRS section 401(a). Qualifying the AUI retirement plan will provide Brookhaven employees with the following advantages:

- Greater Tax Shelter Ability — Since contributions to a qualified plan are not included in the initial calculation for maximum tax deferred contribution, an employee may tax shelter up to 20% of base salary as opposed to the present 12% maximum.
- 10 Year Special Tax Averaging — In the event of an employee's death, prior to retirement, the employee's beneficiary may elect to use 10-year income averaging for tax purposes for a lump sum payment. This benefit would substantially reduce income taxes to the beneficiary. Under the former plan, only five-year income tax averaging was available.
- Death Benefit Exclusion — Up to $5,000 in plan benefits paid to an employee's beneficiary after the employee's death can qualify for income tax exemption.

The Laboratory will continue to contribute 10% of employee's base salary to his or her present TIAA-CREF regular retirement contracts. For most employees no action is required unless they wish to increase their tax deferred contributions by any amount up to the new maximum permitted for tax sheltered contributions.

Employees currently making voluntary contributions to one or more of the several retirement plan options will shortly be sent a statement showing the amount of their present contributions, and what their new maxi-

In color, it looks like a picture of amber raindrops, shimmering against a vibrant blue/purple sky. In reality, it's a photomicrograph of lung tissue, magnified 100 times. William Marin, Jr. made the photomicrograph, which was sent to the journal NeuroToxicology. Its editor found the picture such a striking blend of art and science that she chose it for the cover of the fall special issue, which carries proceedings of a BNL workshop on metal toxicology held last year. To do the picture justice, the cover was printed in color, a first for this traditionally black and white journal. The circles are burn marks in the lung tissue, caused by the accelerator's proton beam, and the bubbles within the circles are actually particles containing uranium. Marin made the photomicrograph for an experiment described in this special issue. The work was jointly conducted by Marian Cholewa, a visiting researcher from the Institute of Nuclear Physics in Krakow, Poland; Keith Jones and Albert Hanson in BNL's Physics Department; Anselmo Paschoa, Catholic University in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; and Ed Wrenn and Scott Miller from the University of Utah. Their experiment supports the feasibility of using the 3.5-MV Van de Graaff for basic studies in metal toxicology. The machine's extreme sensitivity and excellent spatial resolution open up new prospects in this field of research.

ment, install a sun space. When we heard the blast, we looked up and saw the smoke, and Ed said, 'It's got to be Grucci's.' " When Bookless returned home, he calmed his frightened daughter who was convinced it was "The Day After."

Bookless, a volunteer firefighter, joined his company at the explosion site. The firefighters had to stand back for a while because of the concern about another explosion. Then they fought the small fires from the decks of the fire trucks before taking the hoses into the midst of the debris.

Joanne Roys says that her relatives are not sure whether or not they are going to rebuild their New York Pyrotechnic Products Company on their 13-acre Bellport property, but feels they have the right to do so. "When anyone says they should have never been there, they must remember that the Gruccis were there first."

Other BNL workers have mixed feelings about the rebuilding of the plant. "I grieve for the Grucci family, and feel no ill will towards them for this accident." says Brian Briscoe. "However, I would want to see what their plans are before I would support or oppose their rebuilding." "When I bought my house in 1955 the Grucci operation was much smaller," says John Fuhrmann. "Though I've enjoyed the nightly fireworks displays when the Gruccis tested their products, I objected to the plant's presence in this residential community before the town board, and absolutely do not want them to rebuild."

mum contribution will be effective January 1, 1984.

After January 1, 1984, voluntary employee contributions will no longer be allowed to the regular AUI retirement plan. Individual employees currently making voluntary contributions to the regular AUI retirement plan (either on a salary reduction or payroll deduction basis) must do one of the following prior to December 30, 1983:

- Switch the present voluntary contribution to another tax deferred plan such as a TIAA/CREF Supplemental Retirement Annuity (SRA) which is a cashable contract, or to one of the mutual fund accounts (Fidelity and T. Rowe Price). You must file a new salary reduction agreement and fill out the appropriate TIAA-CREF or mutual fund application if not already enrolled in these plans.

  Employees who wish to continue contributing to a non-cashable TIAA-CREF contract, either on a tax deferred or payroll deduction basis, must file an application form for a new TIAA-CREF contract and complete a new salary reduction agreement or payroll deduction form.
- Discontinue the present contribution amount, in which case no action is required by employees. If neither a new salary reduction agreement or a payroll deduction form is received in payroll by December 30, 1983, your present voluntary contribution to the regular retirement plan will be cancelled automatically and the amount will be included in your next paycheck.

Employees may obtain TIAA-CREF, Fidelity and T. Rowe Price applications and salary reduction agreements at the Personnel Office. If you have questions, please call Personnel Services, Ext. 7516. (Please see Notice to Employees published on page 4. Posting of this notice is a legal requirement of the Internal Revenue Service.)

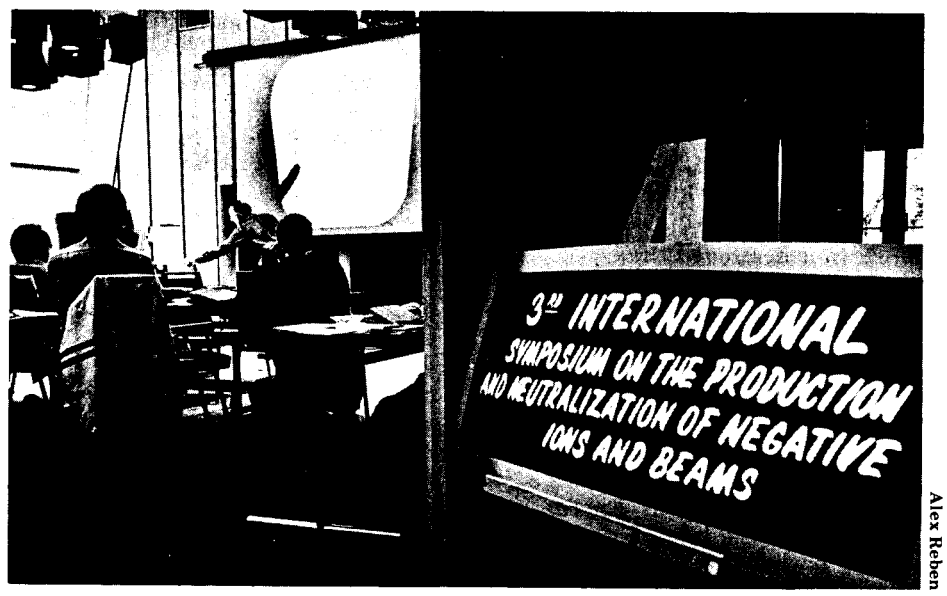
Discussion Group on Nuclear Arms

Allan Thorndike, former associate chairman for high energy physics in the Physics Department, will report on "The World After Nuclear War" a conference he attended this fall. The conference presented the results of a study examining the effects on climate after a nuclear war, results which show a major change in the temperature and in transmitted sunlight.

Thorndike was a member of the scientific staff from 1947 to 1981 when he retired. He will speak on Friday, December 9, at noon in Room B, Berkner Hall. All interested employees are invited to attend.

Choral Rehearsal

Singers please remember! Next Monday's rehearsal will be held in the north room of the Brookhaven Center at noon. Back to Berkner on the 13th.



Alex Reben

Framed by the doorway to Berkner Hall's Room B are but a few of the participants at the Third International Symposium on the Production and Neutralization of Negative Ions and Beams. Over 70 researchers, representing ten nations, met at Brookhaven from November 14-18, to present papers and discuss directions for future work. "Work on negative hydrogen ion sources was pioneered at BNL," said conference chairman Krsto Prelec, who heads the Advanced Source Development Group at the AGS. In two previous symposiums, held here in 1977 and 1980, the focus was on negative hydrogen ions and beams, and their applications in future fusion experiments. In addition, this year's conference, co-chaired by Theo Sluyters, included discussions of polarized ions and heavier ions, for fusion and other applications.

United We Stand . . .

Divided we fall. So take a stand for the United Way of Long Island with a contribution towards the $60,000 goal of the 1983-1984 BNL United Way campaign. As of Monday, November 28, $21,000 had been pledged by BNL employees. "We're a third of the way into the campaign, and we've reached a third of our goal," says BNL United Way chair Roseann Callister, Contracts & Procurement. "I hope that we can keep up this level of support." The United Way fund drive ends on Friday December 16.

As you can see on this year's pledge card, you may renew or increase your last year's payroll deduction authorization. On the pledge card as well, you may indicate any one of the 130 charitable agencies, served by the United Way of Long Island, such as the Suffolk County Boy or Girl Scout Councils, the Long Island Sickle Cell Project, or the Victims Information Bureau of Suffolk, as sole recipient of your total contribution.

Roger Stoutenburgh

Roseann Callister

A United Way contribution is tax deductible, and only 15¢ of each donated dollar is spent on United Way operating expenses. Donations may be made by returning your pledge card to either your department representative, or to BNL United Way treasurer Betty Pergan, DAS, Building 179A. And if you need an extra pledge card, ask your department rep.

Postmark North Pole

Have your children written their letters to Santa? If so, before sending the letters to the North Pole, ask your children to make a copy for the Brookhaven Bulletin. Facsimiles of some of them will be published in our Friday December 23 issue, so please get the letters to us by Thursday December 15.

Hospitality News

A "Christmas Workshop" is the theme of the next Hospitality Committee get-together which will be held Tuesday December 6 from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Brookhaven Center. Instructions for creating a variety of holiday decorations and ornaments will be featured.

Join us for this interesting presentation, and if you have a special decoration you would like to show the group, please bring it along.

All wives of Laboratory employees, guests, and visitors are invited. Coffee, tea, and danish will be served. Please come and bring the children. Babysitting will be provided free of charge.

Office Decor

With the approach of winter, we use holiday decorations to bring color and warmth to our offices. How has your office, laboratory or work area been spruced up to keep good cheer in and winter out? If it's pretty, playful, or simply unique, let us know by calling Ext. 2346. Pictures of some of the best efforts will appear in the Bulletin on December 23.

Cooking Exchange

The annual Cooking Exchange holiday party will be held in the Recreation Building on Friday, December 9, starting at 5:30 p.m. An invitation is extended to employees, their families, and friends.

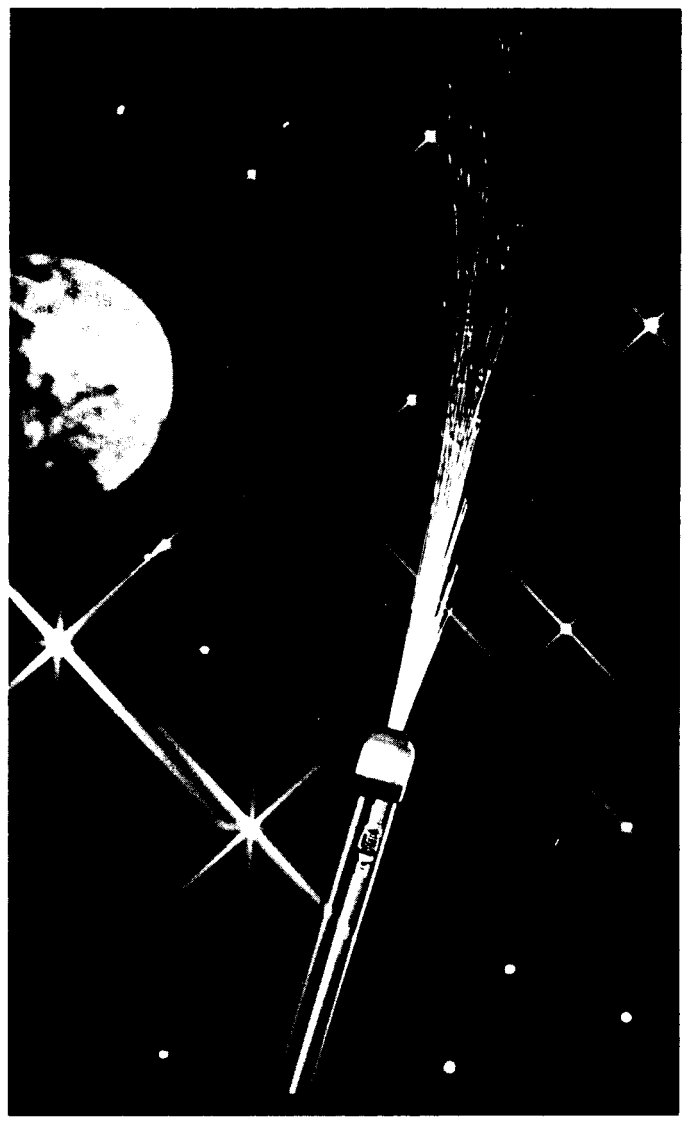
Guests are asked to bring appetizers or hors d'oeuvres enough to serve 10-20 people. Also, a donation of $1.25 collected from each couple will be used to pay for hot spiced cider and a special spirits punch.

If you plan to attend, please call any of the following: Dee Polychronakos, 744-3578; Jane Shero, 286-0925; Zuna Van Rooyen, 929-6961; Nancy Nagy, 924-8160; Julie Schiappa, 698-7322; Mitchiko Tanaka, 744-3690.

For those who want to bring their children, babysitting will be provided at 25¢ for each child.

Concert Reminder

Oboist Bert Lucarelli, harpsichordist Judith Norell and flutist Rene Siebert will give a concert at Berkner Hall on Wednesday, December 7 at 8:30 p.m. General admission is $7; students and senior citizens, $4; and those under 18, $3.



Mort Rosen

You can't buy the moon, but you can buy the Star Wand for $3. The holiday sale at the Exhibit Center Science Shop starts today and will continue on December 9 and 16. You can shop from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. for holiday gifts that you won't be able to find in just any store. Fifty different toys and other items may be purchased for as little as 10¢ up to a grand sum of $6. The Science Shop may be found at the west side of Building 701.

Fall Fashion

Instead of showing the usual autumn leaf colors, the Hospitality Committee offered a fall fashion show which emphasized the coordination of clothes and make-up to complement each woman's coloring. Held on Thursday November 17 in the North Room of the Brookhaven Center, the fashion show featured five Hospitality Committee members modeling ready-to-wear clothing from Sheri Lynn's, Rocky Point, which were selected for them by Louise Orr and Libby Biederman of Color Talk, Patchoque. Tea, sherry, and homemade desserts were served to the onlookers.

As Hospitality co-chair Zuna Van Rooyen narrated the show, the models paraded down the runway like pros, thanks to coaching from chairwoman Riet Claus, organizer of the show. The models were Elsebeth Bak, Bernie Benz, Ruth Fernow, Adrienne Usher, Donna Wielopolski, and Jane McKenzie Wilson.

Donna Wielopolski, whose husband works in the Medical Department, set the trend in a fatigue green pile lined short jacket over a bulky knit black and metallic yarn turtle neck sweater, and olive green trousers.

Mort Rosen

Adrienne Usher, Public Relations, looked striking in a black oversized shirt dress tied off with a white belt.

Holiday Show

The Theater Group is organizing a program of holiday readings and music for Friday, December 9, at 8:30 p.m. in Berkner Hall. They are particularly interested in presentations of short stories or songs from other countries. Anyone who would like to participate should contact Karl Swyler (Ext. 7171), or Penny Baggett (Ext. 5154) by Monday, December 5. The entire Laboratory community is invited to attend this free holiday show.

Notice To Employees

An Application is to be made to the Internal Revenue Service for an advance determination on the qualification of the following employee pension benefit plan:

1. Associated Universities, Inc., Revised Retirement Plan
(Name of Plan)

2. 001
(Plan Number)

3. Associated Universities, Inc., Bldg. 134A, Upton, NY 11973
(Name and Address of Applicant)

4. 11-1630900
(Applicant EIN)

5. Associated Universities, Inc., Bldg. 134A, Upton, NY 11973
(Name and Address of Plan Administrator)

6. The application will be filed on December 20, 1983, with the Key District Director, Internal Revenue Service at Brooklyn, New York, for an advance determination as to whether the plan meets the qualification requirements of section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, with respect to the plan's initial qualification.

7. The employees eligible to participate under the plan are all employees.

8. The Internal Revenue Service has not previously issued a determination letter with respect to the qualification of this plan.

Rights Of Interested Parties

9. You have the right to submit to the Key District Director, at the above address, either individually or jointly with other interested parties, your comments as to whether this plan meets the qualification requirements of the Internal Revenue Code.

You may instead, individually or jointly with other interested parties, request the Department of Labor to submit, on your behalf, comments to the Key District Director regarding qualification of the plan. If the Department declines to comment on all or some of the matters you raise, you may, individually, or jointly if your request was made to the Department jointly, submit your comments on these matters directly to the Key District Director.

Requests For Comments By The Department Of Labor

10. The Department of Labor may not comment on behalf of interested parties unless requested to do so by the lesser of 10 employees or 10 percent of the employees who qualify as interested parties. The number of persons needed for the Department to comment with respect to this plan is 10. If you request the Department to comment, your request must be in writing and must specify the matters upon which comments are requested, and must also include:

(1) the information contained in items 1 through 4 of this Notice; and

(2) the number of persons needed for the Department to comment.

A request to the Department to comment should be addressed as follows:

Administrator of Pension and Welfare
Benefit Programs,
U.S. Department of Labor,
200 Constitution Avenue, N.W.,
Washington, D.C. 20216
ATTN: 3001 Comment Request

Comments To The Internal Revenue Service

11. Comments submitted by you to the Key District Director must be in writing and received by him by February 3, 1984. However, if there are matters that you request the Department of Labor to comment upon on your behalf, and the Department declines, you may submit comments on these matters to the Key District Director to be received by him within 15 days from the time the Department notifies you that it will not comment on a particular matter, or by February 3, 1984, whichever is later, but not after February 18, 1984. A request to the Department to comment on your behalf must be received by it by January 4, 1984, if you wish to preserve your right to comment on a matter upon which the Department declines to comment, or by January 14, 1984, if you wish to waive that right.

Additional Information

12. Detailed instructions regarding the requirements for notification of interested parties may be found in sections 6, 7 and 8 of Revenue Procedure 80-30. Additional information concerning this application, including an up-dated copy of the plan, the application for determination, any additional documents dealing with the application that have been submitted to the IRS; and copies of section 6 of Revenue Procedure 80-30, is available at Bldg. 134A, Upton, New York, during the hours of 8:30 a.m. —5:00 p.m. for inspection and copying.

Placement Notices

The Laboratory's placement policy is to select the best-qualified candidate for an available position, with consideration given to candidates in the following order of priority: (1) present employees within the department, with preference to those within the immediate work group; (2) present employees within the Laboratory as a whole; and (3) outside applicants. In keeping with the Affirmative Action plan, selection decisions are made without regard to age, race, color, religion, national origin, sex, handicap or veteran status.

Each week, the Personnel Office lists new personnel placement requisitions. The purpose of these listings is, first, to provide open placement information on all non-scientific staff positions; second, to give employees an opportunity to request consideration for themselves through Personnel; and, finally, for general recruiting purposes. Because of the priority preference policy stated above, each listing does not necessarily represent an opportunity for all candidates. As a guide to readers, the listings are grouped according to the anticipated area of recruitment.

Except when operational needs require otherwise, positions will remain open for one week following publication date.

For further information regarding a placement listing, contact the Personnel Placement Supervisor, Ext. 2882.
