

AUGUSTUS "GUS" PRINCE AWARD FOR AFRICAN AMERICAN SCHOLARS

This award has been established in memory of Gus Prince, an African American nuclear scientist who worked at BNL from 1966-1993. This annual award will be presented to an exceptional African-American graduate student conducting research at BNL in pursuit of their master's or Ph.D. degree.

Applications are due by July 14, 2023.

Award Details:

The Augustus Prince award consists of a $3000 honorarium, the winner will give a presentation on their research during an award ceremony.

Award Eligibility and Nominations:

- Candidates must be Black/African descent
- Candidates must be enrolled in a Master's or Ph.D. Program and have conducted research relevant to their thesis at BNL.
- Applications must contain the following:
 1. A letter of nomination describing the candidate's research and potential
 - Candidate's name and educational institution
 - Nominator's name and contact information
 2. A summary (two pages maximum), prepared by the student, that includes a summary of the thesis research.
 3. The candidate's CV.

 Candidates who have already completed their Ph.D. are ineligible for the award.*

This is a one-time award; previous awardees are not eligible for another award.*

Completed application materials must be submitted electronically. (If you have the ability to do so, it would be preferable to send your application as one PDF document).

All materials must be sent by July 14, 2023, via email, to: AAAGPrinceAward@bnl.gov.

The applications will be evaluated by a committee of current BNL Employees.

Contact: Jasmine Hatcher-Lamarre, Jhatcherlamarre@bnl.gov.