From the President
by Liz Seubert, liz.and.ev@gmail.com

Summer is on the way, so celebrate by joining BNL friends at the Bellport Country Club for BREA’s annual luncheon on Wednesday, June 8. Do sign up today.

At the luncheon, past BNL Director Nicholas Samios – a terrific speaker – will give the keynote talk. In 2014, after 55 years at Brookhaven Lab, Samios was named distinguished senior scientist emeritus for his highly awarded contributions as a physicist and Laboratory Director. In 2003, he became Director of the RIKEN BNL Research Center, a collaboration between Japan and BNL to explore quark-gluon plasma and spin physics.

Members comfortable with the web say that they prefer reading BREA News online. If you are a techie type and don’t want the hardcopy to arrive by post, please notify Sheryl Gerstman, sigronkonkoma@gmail.com, to take you off the mailing list. BREA will save printing costs and stamps. Better yet, you’ll help save trees!

By the way, if you haven’t paid your 2016 membership, you’ll be cut off in June, but please send in your $10 and stay with us.

See you on June 8, if not before.

BREA Members Find Rewards in Volunteering

Helping Active Military and Veterans – AdoptaPlatoon is a national organization begun by two mothers who found that their deployed sons were not receiving all that they needed to remind them of home. As members of the the Lab’s Brookhaven Veterans Association (BVA), we belong to a committee of employees and retirees who package and ship about 130 pounds of supplies and goodies to our assigned platoon every month.

Operating strictly on donations, we use our off time to fundraise, shop and package shipments that may hold toothbrushes, razors, socks, reading and writing material, soaps, microwaveable meals, soups and, always, candy. All in all, it is a rewarding experience to know that you can bring a little taste of home to service members overseas.

Bob and I are both veterans and joined BVA at its inception as a BERA club. BVA is quite active. In the past we have helped to rebuild a veterans group home in Shirley. Recently, we sponsored a great talk by physicist Benjamin Bederson, who spoke about “From Army Private to Atomic Physicist for the Manhattan Project.” You can read Jane Koropsak’s report at https://www.bnl.gov/newsroom/news.php?a=26221. Coming up is our Mother’s Day Plant Sale, May 5 and 6, 11 a.m. - 2 p.m., Berkner Hall. And year-round, AdoptaPlatoon collects old/used cell phones. Please get them to Joanne Delles in Bldg. 400A at the Lab. We hope to increase membership so that we can do more to support our servicemen and women, both active duty and veteran. Contact us!

Supporting Children With Life-Threatening Illnesses – When I decided to volunteer, I was searching for an organization nearby, one that had a high rating for charities, and a high percentage that goes directly to the recipients. I chose Friends of Karen. They have an office in my hometown, Port Jefferson, but they are a New York tristate organization, also serving families in Connecticut and New Jersey. Charity Navigator has given them their highest rating.

Friends of Karen provides emotional, financial and advocacy support for children with a life-threatening illness and their families to help keep them strong, functioning and able to cope. They believe that families can maintain a sense of balance and stability even during the crisis of their child’s illness. In addition to numerous other services, they provide sibling support, bereavement support, living expenses, transportation and referrals.

The volunteering that I do varies, from helping with mailings and updating their database to representing them at expos for recruiting volunteers. This is indeed a worthy charity, and they are (continued on page 4) appreciative of whatever time you can give them. To find out more about this important organization, visit www.friendsofkaren.org or call (631) 473-1768.

Answering the Call: Firefighting – I like to put out fires. During the Sunrise Wildfire of 1995, my wife did not see me the whole time. The only way she knew I was OK was when she saw the Class A fire truck on News 12.

I’ve been a volunteer with the Ridge Fire Department for almost 40 years, serving as president for five years. I was also president of the Burn Center Volunteer Fund in Stony Brook, past president of Central North Shore Volunteer Firemen’s Association, and past president of the Brookhaven Volunteer Firemen Fighters Museum.

Recently, I’ve been volunteering as Captain of Fire Police. Sometimes, I would rather be fighting fires then telling people that they can not go down a street. They can get very mad! Fire police protect the firefighters at the scene or direct traffic around a car accident so our men and women can do their jobs.
