Farm Facts

- Since the 1930s, 500 farms disappear every week.
- The last census reported that farmers comprise less than 1% of the total population.
- Farming is the fastest declining occupation.
- Although New York State has enough fertile land to easily feed itself, we import 85% of our food from other states and countries.
- On Long Island, 125,000 acres were farmed in 1948; by 1998, farm acres were reduced to 34,000.
- 75% of crop diversity has been lost since 1900.
- 24 million acres of agricultural land in the US have been developed since 1982.

Buy Locally

The best way to:
- Keep Farmers Farming is to shop at local farm stands.
- Keep Open Farmland is to shop at local farm stands.

Buy Organic/Biodynamic

It's simply the best for your family, our environment and our earth.

Green Thumb Organic Market
132 Halsey Lane, Water Mill, NY 11976
631-726-1900
Who We Are & How We Grow

One might say that the Raymond Halsey family is deep-rooted in farming and family traditions. Farming since the mid-1600s, our family farm has managed to survive economic struggles, unpredictable weather and the ever-shrinking East End farmland. We are committed to sustainable agriculture, which means using organic, natural farming practices (crop rotation, compost, biodynamic preparations, fish emulsion, earthworms and natural predators). Unlike conventional farmers who spray their crops, we actually lose crops when bugs overwhelm or weeds take over and choke the plants. Our veggies are all craft-grown and certified organic. The Green Thumb Farm family is committed to growing the best food possible using only approved organic methods.

What We Grow

Starting from seeds or cuttings, our vegetables, herbs, flowers and fruit plants begin in our greenhouse in early March and when the weather warms up, they are transplanted into the fields. We offer herb, flower, fruit and vegetable plants for your garden. Freshly picked seasonal vegetables include: asparagus • green, yellow, purple, romano, lima, Fench, Fava, edamame and cranberry beans • red, golden and chioggia beets • strawberries • raspberries • blackberries • broccoli • brussels sprouts • red, green and savoy cabbage • round, baby, red, rainbow and regular carrots • cauliflower • celery • Kirby, burpless and regular cucumbers • 16 types of eggplant • fennel • flowers • greens include tatsoi, shiso, red and green mustards, 7 types of kale, 3 types of Swiss chard, broccoli rabe; collards, mizuna, mizuna and more! • 15 different lettuce types • 15 different herbs • purple and green kohlrabi • leeks • cantaloupes and watermelons • peas include English shelling, snow peas and snap peas • yellow, gold, orange, purple, red, green and chocolate sweet peppers as well as a vast variety of hot and semi-hot peppers • radicchio • red, white, purple and French radishes as well as winter radishes • rhubarb • scallions • 6 types of summer squash • sweet potato • over 50 types of tomatoes including heirloom and 13 types of miniatures • red, gold and white turnips • rutabaga • winter roots such as Jerusalem artichokes, parsnips, salsify and celery root. All seeds are non-GMO and certified organic.

We define quality by flavor and freshness. Because our vegetables are grown in fertile, mineral-balanced soil and because they are picked daily, the consumer gets the highest nutritional content possible. We only harvest vegetables at their optimum time.

We can’t control the weather conditions and other factors. There is usually some crop loss or shortage; however since we grow such a wide variety of vegetables, there are always bumper crops as well.

Invest in Your Health

Please fill out the form below. Checks should be made payable to the Green Thumb and given to Ruth Comas at BNL. Ruth’s number is 344-3545

Live Strong Eat Consciously

Beginning June 7, we will deliver our homegrown, organic produce weekly. Our last delivery will be Tuesday, November 20. There will be no drop off July 4 week.

2018 Veggie Club Commitment Form:

Name ____________________________________________

Address ____________________________________________

Telephone _______________________________________

Email ___________________________________________

☐ Enclosed is a payment in full $450
☐ Strawberry picking, date to be announced
☐ Interested in pumpkin picking/farm tour

Follow us on Instagram greenthumborganicfarm

Green Thumb Organic Market is Located at 829 Montauk Highway, Water Mill