HARVEY FANS A-HOY!

HARVEY

THEATRE GROUP'S SPRING
PRODUCTION

MARCH 1 and 2.

Last week Harvey made his first personal appearance in these columns. They way it was brought about was this: First Helen Steffenson came up with what would be known in some circles as the conceptual design; they would mean to say it was all her idea. Then George Cox ran the design across his drawing board; he firmed it up, you might say. From his final tracing then, Marge Forrest pulled an ozalid proof to be used on a tracing box so that the drawing might be transferred to a mimeo stencil.

As the proof came off the machine, Marge said to Lee Grodzins, who was standing over her shoulder at the time, "I know some kids who would get a kick out of coloring this."

And the question now is,

DO YOU ALSO KNOW SOME KIDS WHO WOULD LIKE TO HAVE A HARVEY TO COLOR?

We have had some copies run off, and you will find them hanging on department bulletin boards. If those are all gone you can call Mary Ann Kugler on X 2228 and she will send you some. You might even drop by at the Research Staff lobby where Mary Ann is located and collect your Harvey from her yourself.

THEN WHEN YOU GET READY TO GO OUT ON MARCH 1 OR 2 TO SEE "HARVEY" AT THE THEATRE, AS PRESENTED BY THE THEATRE GROUP, YOUR KIDS WON'T HOWL AT BEING LEFT WITH THE BABYSITTER: THEY WILL HOWL AT NOT GETTING TO SEE HARVEY THEMSELVES.
