1. Thursday, October 9, 1952: Irene Rosenberg, piano; Josef Marx, oboe; Irving Neidich, clarinet; Arthur Weisberg, bassoon; Gunther Schuller, horn. This concert will include some rarely heard music for wind instruments and piano by Mozart, Beethoven, and other 18th and 19th century composers.
2. Thursday, November 6, 1952: Bernard Greenhouse, cello. Mr. Greenhouse is a young American cellist who has just returned from the Casals Festival in Perpignan, France.
3. Tuesday, January 6, 1953: Juilliard String Quartet. The Juilliard Quartet, one of the outstanding ensembles now playing, needs no introduction to the BNL audience, having been enthusiastically received here in 1950 and 1951.
4. (Date to be announced): Alexander Schneider, violin. Mr. Schneider is well known for his varied activities in chamber music and for his many recordings. He was instrumental in arranging the Casals festivals in France in the past few summers.
