PICNIC

March 24 and 25 - 8:30 p.m. - Theatre

Have you ever been in on the excitement of bringing a play to life? It starts for most of us after the advisory and executive committees have chosen (euphemism for an awful lot of agonizing, coin-tossing, swordplay, and even old fashioned horse-trading) -- the play, and selected its director. There are the casting calls, the speculations on sets and costumes, the finding of the director's alter-ego, his production manager. And then one day there is the first reading, on folding chairs, on the bare stage, and you all suddenly realize just what an awful lot of work there is to be done. Rehearsals have their ups and downs; scientific work insists on a little attention just once in a while; the competition gets heavy between the on-stage and off-stage work -- noise; and no one is ever anywhere near ready for dress rehearsals. But they turn out better than you hoped, and all of a sudden it is opening night, and you stand in the wings and wonder how on earth you ever got into this -- and -- you're on! It's just like nothing else on earth, and we wish we could enlist every person at the Lab.

PICNIC

PICNIC

The technical staff is headed by Gerhart Friedlander (Chem.), the Production Manager. Lynn Paegge (Bio.) is the Stage Manager. George Cox (Photo) designed the set; Donald Fluke (Bio.) has been charge of its construction, with the help of Lynn Paegge, Edward Sayre (Chem.), Harold Schwarz (Chem.), Lloyd Schairer (Chem.), Lee Grodzins (Phys.), Richard Wolfgang (Chem.), Eugene Renkin (Bio.), Byron Keene (H.P.) Terry Satina (Med.). Lights are in charge of Janet Leeds (Bio.), with Arlyn Daniel (Bio.). The props mistress is Frances Keene, assisted by Nancy Foscus (Med.). The costumes mistress is Sybil Sugarman, assisted by Mary Kinsley (Nuc. Eng.). Make-up is in charge of Helen Steffensen, with Jane Caspar and Joan Earl (Bio.). Robert Weed (Phys.) has assisted with choreography. Ticket promotion is in charge of John Gorr (Reactor), assisted by William Benedict (Reactor) and Robert Fuchs (Reactor). Publicity is in charge of Virginia Sayre (Dir. Off.), with art work and other valuable assistance from John Antal (Bio.), Harriet Christman, George Cox and Edward Sayre. The program is being edited by Margaret Fluke, with a cover design by George Cox. Jerome Hudis (Chem.) will be in charge of the house on performance nights, assisted by Nathaniel Barr (Chem.), Albert Caretto (Chem.), Nancy Day (Chem.), Lucy Duke (Med.), Joyce Meyer (Nuc. Eng.), Sophie Oleksa (Nuc. Eng.), Carol Redvanly (Chem.), Jean Ritchie (Bio.), Keith Rowley (Chem.), and Richard Wolfgang.

PICNIC

That old theatre magic has got us all. It's only a week from this Thursday and Friday --- it's going to be a wonderful show! Make a date now to be a part of it all on March 24th and 25th. If our intrepid ticket-sellers have not reached you yet, call John Gorr on Ext. 667.

ATTENTION ALL PHILATELISTS

All PHILATELISTS who want to organize, call G. Lellouche, Ext. 646.
