TABLE TENNIS FINALS FRIDAY

The BNL Table Tennis Tournament takes center stage when the finals in the Singles and Doubles are contested this Friday at 12 noon. The tables will be removed from the dark confines of the ping pong room and placed on the gym floor. Adequate seating will be supplied for those that wish to view these gruelling 5 out of 9 game matches.

The Singles will pit J. Smith vs. S. Rottenberg, while the Doubles will have the team of S. Garret and W. Lanyi, opposing A. Christofferson and L. O'Laughlin.

Last week's semi-final contests saw Smith vanquish Garrett (21-16) (21-15) (21-16) (21-12) and Rottenberg defeat Sadofsky (17-21) (21-15) (21-19) (21-8) (21-19) in the Singles matches. Doubles devotees witnessed Garret and Lanyi's hard fought victory against T. Holmquist and H. Marshall (21-11) (21-18) (13-21) (21-17) and Christofferson and O'Laughlin's triumph over D. Thomas and R. Giallorenzo (21-17) (21-19) (21-19).

In order to reach the round of four, the Singles players had to by-pass some tough opponents in the quarter-final round. Smith easily defeated Haas, (21-12) (21-9) (21-9); Garret beat Marshall (21-11) (21-12) (21-18); Sadofsky vanquished Tiller (21-19) (22-20) (21-16) and Rottenberg topped Feinberg (21-12) (21-19) (21-18).

Trophies will be awarded by BERA to the winners of both the Singles and Doubles matches and to the Singles runner-up. A spectacular brand of table tennis is promised to all who attend.

J. SADOFSKY

WE ARE ALL MURDERERS!

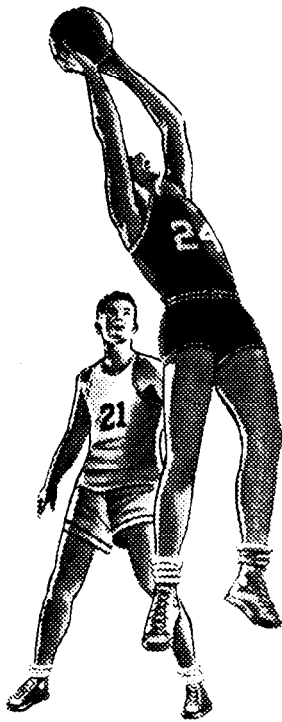

The time has come to put aside such pleasant little films as "The Bed" and "Game of Love" and get a look at an early 1950 French film based on a controversial subject. Andree Cayatte's relentless, exciting attack on the institution of capital punishment is the result of a successful collaboration with the distinguished screenwriter, Charles Spaak. A fine cast, topped by Marcel Mouloudji as the killer who goes to the guillotine along with three other condemned men, plays this film vividly and remarkably true to life, minus prettiness, sentiment or mock-heroism. Scenes of a prison's "Death Row", the preparation of the condemned prisoners for execution by society, and their last thoughts and emotions, have never before been shown with such realistic force and suspense.

BASKETBALL RESULTS

Because of a snowed-in reporter our last week's basketball column didn't get to press on time. Here's a rundown on the past two weeks activity.

Games Played February 11: Playing their first game of the second half, the Phoubar Phive finally broke away from Health Physics in the last 5 minutes to take a 58 to 48 decision. Mountainous Haskell Frei erupted to tally a total of 31 for the victors while R. Cartens was accounting for 23 of the loser's score. A. Christoffersen (Phoubar secret weapon) was brought into the game with 4 minutes to go as 2 of his mates fouled out.

The second game proved to be one of the most exciting of the season. Underdog Nuclear Eng. edged past Biology 56 to 55. Nuclear led all the way but Bio crawled to a 1 point lead with 2 seconds to go. Nuclear fed the ball to Bill Kenney, who drove to the foul line and let fly a shot just as the buzzer sounded. The ball swished the net and gave the victory to Nuclear Engineering.

Games played February 18: The snow and cold weather stopped many things, but not the basketball crew as they came out in force for this double header.

The first overtime game in the league saw Nuclear Eng. and the Phoubars battling down the wire to a 47-47 tie. The score see-sawed and the ball changed hands 5 times during the last 30 seconds, until the buzzer signaled an overtime was necessary. The Phoubars gained possession of the tip and scored a quick basket putting the pressure on Nuclear. A foul shot and another basket gave the Phoubars 5 points for the 3 minute overtime while they held Nuclear scoreless. Final score Nuc. Eng. 47 Phoubars 52.

In the second game two streaks were preserved. Metallurgy won their eighth straight without a loss while Health Physics dropped their eighth in a row. The Metalmen led all the way and coasted to a 49 to 26 victory. Bob Hambley's 15 and W. Lanyi's 18 were high. E. Walsh had high honors for the losers with 11.

Second-Half Standings

	W	L
1. Metallurgy*	2	0
2. Phoubars	2	0
3. Biology	1	1
4. Nuc. Eng.	1	1
5. Health Physics	0	2
