Medicare Deadline, March 31

The Social Security Amendments of 1965 established a broad program of health insurance for each person age 65 or over, whether or not the individual is retired or actively working. This program, which will become effective on July 1, 1966, is called "Medicare." The details are contained in a pamphlet entitled "Your New Medicare and Social Security Fact Sheet," which was sent to employees' homes last September.

Because of the benefits provided under Medicare, the Laboratory plans to make certain changes in its group medical insurance plan for employees or dependents age 65 and over, whether they are active or retired. The intention is to co-ordinate the Laboratory's present benefits with those provided by Medicare, and thus provide more complete coverage at a reduced premium.

Consequently, if you or your spouse are within three months of attaining age 65, both should apply for Medicare benefits immediately if you have not already done so.

If your wife was age 65 prior to January 1, 1966, even though you are under age 65 and working, she must apply for Medicare prior to March 31, 1966, if the benefits are to be effective July 1, 1966.

Chronicle of a Summer

An outstanding example of the "Cinema Verite" movement, Chronicle of a Summer takes the viewer into the lives of a group of Parisians - some average citizens, others highly individual types - as they lived through the summer of 1960. Anthropologist-film maker Jean Rouch and sociologist-film critic Edgar Morin demonstrate an amazing ability at catching people at their most natural and unaffected moments. Often humorous, sometimes highly dramatic and on occasion almost embarrassingly personal, this film consistently reveals not only the members of the "cast" but the fears and sorrows of all men and women in the modern world.

Short: 'Sailing'

Produced in the Netherlands, this film is about cruising under sail. The photography, color and editing give the viewer a breathtaking experience.

Letters To the Editor

Nota bene: We will print letters under a nom-de-plume or with the name withheld per request but each letter must have a name and a Lab Extension accompanying it. We try to answer all letters addressed to us, if not in the paper at least by inter-office mail. This is impossible if we don't know who sends them.

To the Editor:

I am deeply impressed with John Moeser's contribution of time and energy in helping our men in Vietnam. Such generous service is something for which they are very grateful, and which makes life richer and more meaningful for Mr. Moeser.

John McCafferty

Ed - So are we! The letter above is just a representative sample of the many comments we've heard about Mr. Moeser.

Lawn Care Pamphlet

A four-page pamphlet on lawn care is available from the Recreation Office. The pamphlet was written by Ed Hunter of the Plant Maintenance Division who oversees this job at the Lab, and covers such topics as initiating a new lawn, maintaining the lawn, crabgrass and other weed control, and care of the lawnmower.

There is a strange paradox developing in the field of air travel; the bigger and faster the aircraft become, the longer it takes you to get to the airport. Flight time from JFK International Airport to Bermuda is 90 minutes. Taxi time from midtown Manhattan to JFK is 35 minutes - if you go at four o'clock in the morning. At other times it's as much as two hours, providing you don't have a mid-west accent inviting the driver to take you via the Bronx. Then it's longer.

And then, since the bigger and faster planes don't call on the lesser cities, a trip to a medium size metropolis can turn into a nightmare of changes and bus rides.

Because of the mobility of its personnel between locations not served by commercial flights, Associated Universities Inc., like so many other organizations, finds it more convenient to fly its own planes. In May 1963, AUI contracted a leasing arrangement for a five-passenger Piper Aztec and hired Ted Hrynus to fly it. The arrangement has worked so well that last August a second Aztec was added and Pilot Hank Wujcik joined AUI.

AUI Airlines is administered by the Staff Services Division under Bill Webster. Dorothy Metz of the Travel Office handles the flight bookings and the travel arrangements.

The planes average somewhere between 60 and 176 hours per month of flying time, and are used to transport not only scientific personnel, both university and BNL, but also Lab inspectors visiting contractor's plants, and AUI and Laboratory administrators on business at other locales.

The two planes free the traveler from the restrictions of scheduled airlines and the nuisance of reservations and tickets. From MacArthur Airport, where the planes are based, Yale is 20 minutes away; Princeton, 30 minutes; Ithaca, an hour-and-a-half; and Boston, about an hour. The short flight times and the convenience more than make up for the lack of a stewardess in a Pucci space helmet offering "coffee, tea, or milk, please."

Pilot Ted Hrynus flew Senator Jacob Javits to Washington at night in weather so bad that commercial lines were grounded. Dorothy Metz, of the Travel Office, checks flight schedules and routes with Pilot Hank Wujcik.
