

Angela Hill Reports

A West Indian at heart but a native of Bellport, Angela Hill spent her summer in BNL's Public Relations Department, writing for the Brookhaven Bulletin.

Writing is one of her greatest passions. Although she was accepted for the only journalism position in the Summer Student Program, her real writing interests do not lie in this field. She is more geared towards poetry and play writing. Angela made her first contribution to the world of literature in the eighth grade when she wrote a 23-chapter novel based on the trials and tribulations of an English family during the Revolutionary War. It has never been published.

Since then, she has dabbled in poetry and has become seriously interested in play writing. One of her plays, "Death of a Mother," will be presented at Dowling College this fall if Angela can find the right people to cast it. Mary Jane Rau, who teaches English at Dowling and is the wife of BNL Associate Director Ronald Rau, has used Angela's poems and plays in her classes.

Angela has one more year at Dowling College before she gets her Bachelor's degree in English Education. She already has an Associate degree in Elementary Education from St. John's University in Queens.

During the interim between colleges, Angela spent a year working for the State of New York in the Department of Labor, and a year teaching sixth grade in St. Thomas in the U.S. Virgin Islands.

Her love affair with the "islands" blossomed while she was living in St. Thomas. Her dream is to eventually settle down somewhere in the Caribbean or West Indies. (Continued on page 2)

Name This Building

"But sure the eye of time beholds no name . . ." and neither does the building shown above. Can you identify it? That should be easy for it is the Exhibit Hall on Brookhaven Avenue that will be used on occasions for BNL Theater Group productions. Renovations are being made to ready it for the Group's next play scheduled for October. This is the first call to announce a contest sponsored by the Theater Group. The Executive Committee is looking for appropriate and original names for the building when used as a theater. BERA members should send entries to Rita Straub, 30 Bell Avenue. The deadline is September 13 at noon and the prize will be two tickets to the next Theater Group production. The Contest Entry Form is on page 2.

No Bulletin Next Week

Due to the long Labor Day holiday and resulting short work week, the Brookhaven Bulletin will not be published next week.

Hedy West to Sing In Berkner Sept. 12

Hedy West, one of America's outstanding folk singers, will appear in Berkner Hall on Thursday evening, September 12, at 8:30 p.m., in a program of songs drawn from her own rich heritage of Anglo-American folksong lore of northern Georgia, as well as from native American songs of mine and mill workers of the early part of this century. The program will also include German cabaret songs and various contemporary songs drawn from her more recent experiences.

Although proud of her southern hill country origin, which has given her a great deal, she is no hillbilly performer. She attended Columbia University and has a vast knowledge of the forms and history of music. In her performances, Miss West skillfully combines all of this background.

Hedy West began singing professionally in 1959. Pete Seeger helped give her career a start while she appeared with him at the Village Gate in 1960. She made her first recording for Vanguard in 1962. Between 1963 and 1970 she lived in England where she performed frequently and made a number of recordings.

Alan Lomax has said, "Hedy West's song style and banjo are true to the bone and marrow of the American mountain style. She performs with finesse, uncommon honesty and great excitement".

The performance on September 12, is open to the public. Admission will be $3.00 for adults and $1.50 for persons under 18 years.

Please note the change in the date of this concert.

Public Sale of Vehicles

Twenty (20) vehicles, located at Warehouse T-87, will be available for Public Sale.

Inspection will be permitted from September 19 to September 26, during the hours of 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., except Saturday and Sunday.

Bids will be opened on September 30th, 1974, at General Services Administration, Business Service Center Bid Room, 26 Federal Plaza, New York, N.Y.

This will be an informal competitive bidding. Bid forms may be obtained at building 87 and 211. For further details, please call Extension 2303 or 2977.

Bicyclists Take Note

Every bicycle, when in use during the period from one half hour after sunset, shall be equipped with a lamp on the front which shall emit a white light visible from a distance of at least five hundred feet to the front and with a red reflector, at least three inches in diameter, on the rear which shall be visible from all distances from fifty feet to three hundred feet to the rear when directly in front of lawful upper beams of headlamps on a motor vehicle.

A reminder to all Lab employees who use bicycles after dark both on and off site.

YOC's Bid Farewell

Youth on Campus students gather for their last office practices class. Class instructors and coordinators of the program join them for a commemorative photograph. Glass To Deliver 123rd BNL Lecture

John Glass, of the BNL Medical Department and the Mt. Sinai School of Medicine, will deliver the 123rd Brookhaven Lecture on Wednesday, September 11, at 8 p.m. in Berkner Hall. The title of his lecture will be "Structure-Activity Correlations in Peptide Hormones: Ancestries Traced and Fortunes Read."

Earlier lectures in this series have dealt with subtle natural and synthetic variations of structure in the neurohypophyseal hormones and with the correlations of such variations to evolutionary history, physiological function, and three dimensional conformation of those peptide hormones. This presentation will deal only briefly with such structure-activity correlations within the neurohypophyseal hormone family, but will concentrate on the occurrence and possible significance of distinguishing structural themes which appear frequently among the peptide hormones and rarely in the general population of peptides and proteins.

In a study at the Medical Research Center of BNL one such distinguishing feature (α -carboxamide) was exploited as a marker to detect and characterize a type of enzyme which specifically attacks and inactivates one class of peptide hormones. It is also contemplated that screening procedures keyed to salient structural features of hormonal peptides might be applied to the detection and isolation of important new hormones and the facilities distributed among several departments at BNL may represent a unique environment for such an undertaking.

The implications of certain distinctive "hormonal" chemical functions for the biogenesis, mechanisms of action and enzymatic regulation of peptide hormones will be discussed.

John Glass was born in Austin, Texas, on January 18, 1942. He received his B.S. in Chemistry from the University of Texas in 1964, his M.S. in Biochemistry from the University of Wisconsin in 1965, and his Ph.D. in Biochemistry from the University of Pennsylvania in 1968.

He came to BNL in 1968 as a research collaborator in the Medical Research Center and as a research associate of the Department of Physiology and Biophysics of the Mount Sinai School of Medicine of the City University of New York.

After a year as research associate in the Chemistry Department of Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, Glass returned in 1971 to the Mt. Sinai School of Medicine as Assistant Professor of Physiology and Biophysics, and to BNL as a research collaborator.

John Glass's research interests center on synthetic peptide chemistry and on the elucidation of mechanisms of hormone action. He is currently engaged in developing new methods of peptide synthesis using mild chemical treatments and in applying such mild procedures to the synthesis of fragile peptide hormone analogs for physiological and biochemical studies. He also retains an interest in the identification and isolation of new hormones.

dies. "Ideally, I would like to live down there and write plays, but practically speaking, I would probably end up teaching high school English," she says. Whenever she talks about the Virgin Islands, her face lights up and a faint smile creeps across her face. A number of poems came out of her stay in the islands and they best sum up her feelings.

THE PERFECT LIFE

*i want to stand tall and lean and black and straight with my back to the sea facing my beloved mountains
i want to feel the weight of sterling

with the smell of Khus Khus
behind my ears
i want to walk up hills
balancing my wash
on my head
i want to grow old
in relentless summer
i want the wisdom
to skillfully use
bush tea and saffron to cook old wife
and make fungi
to speak patois
and to whisper to the spirits of the night
i want to know from whence i've come and to know where i am going and to realize that where i am
is merely a stopping point between two worlds*

This summer was not Angela's first experience working at the Lab. She worked at the Research Library and the AGS in 1968 and 1969 when she was a participant in the Youth on Campus Program.

Her father, Robert Hill, was an artificer at Camp Upton and when the Lab was founded he joined the staff as a cabinet-maker. An artificer is a skilled craftsman. Angela's mother, Lillian, also spent some time at Camp Upton, taking care of convalescing soldiers.

Besides writing, Angela enjoys music and dance. Her first ambition was to be a singer but her desire to become a writer proved stronger. She likes to think of her style as similar to that of Lorraine Hansberry who wrote "Raisin in the Sun" and an autobiography which was adapted for Broadway as the play "To Be Young, Gifted and Black." "She says so much in her writing which focuses on various aspects of Black life, and this is what I try to do," says Angela. Next time we see Angela Hill's by-line, it will probably be on a play, a book of poetry or maybe a collection of short stories.

All Set for October

Pat Campbell, Ron Peierls and John Binnington (L-R) check on the progress of stage construction in the renovated Exhibit Hall and discuss the staging of the October production, "The Real Inspector Hound."

BERA Theatre Group's New Stage Nearly Set

Formerly a chapel, later a Technical Information Division warehouse and presently an exhibit hall, the building at 26 Brookhaven is undergoing a rapid renovation so that all will be in readiness for the October production.

The stage, curtains and lights are in place. Portable platforms are ready to be erected to hold the first of many audiences. Seating is estimated at 200.

The first production put on by the BERA Theater Group in the new theater will be Tom Stoppard's "The Real Inspector Hound," one of the wittiest, deceptively complex comedies of the decade. Performances are a month and a half away but now is the time to pick the nights (you'll want to see it twice) to attend.

An unusually fine cast including Janice Olsen, Virginia Sayre, Julie Peierls, Geoffrey Hind, John Binnington, Graham Campbell, Bob Marr and Mike Losquadro is now rehearsing under the direction of Ron Peierls.

Make plans to laugh at "The Real Inspector Hound" October 18-19, 25-26 at the No Name at the Moment Theatre, 26 Brookhaven.

Volunteers are being sought to help the cast and crew with this coming BNL hit. Call Ron Peierls, Ext. 3855 if you will help with the house, lighting, make-up, publicity and set painting.

All Theatre Group members are urged to attend the Group's first Fall meeting on September 18th to see the renovated Exhibit Hall, the home of future productions, to enjoy a program arranged by Bruce Martin and to hear the latest on Theater Group activities by the Group's leader Bob Kinsey.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I would like to extend my deep appreciation to all who sent flowers and cards for the loss of my brother.

Sincerely,
Fran Hydoski

Dear Sir:

To a Very Kindly Gentleman:

I regret that I did not get the name of the gentleman who so graciously helped me out on Saturday morning, August 17.

I had the misfortune to have a flat tire, and this gentleman, riding a bike, came to my rescue.

This letter is a thank you note to him and an expression of my appreciation for his thoughtfulness.

I would also like to say thank you to a fellow worker, Mrs. Eleazer, RN, who noted that I was not following her as usual and turned back to see if anything was wrong.

We could use more of this thoughtfulness at this time in our troubled world.

From a very grateful person
Doris L. Kiltbau, RN

Dear Sir:

I have a very strong feeling that in sending out the "Thank You" cards to the friends and fellow workers of my late husband, Joseph M. Benincasa, I have overlooked some. My only excuse can be emotional fatigue. Please understand.

In trying to express myself to you all I can only borrow the words my son Philip spoke as he was saying goodbye to everyone at the services for Joe. He in turn had borrowed the words from the late George M. Cohan: "My mother thanks you, my wife and I thank you, my aunts and uncles thank you, but by far and the most important we know my father thanks you."

Most sincerely,
Melina Benincasa

Upton Nursery School Starts Classes Sept. 9

Upton Nursery School is a co-operative pre-school for the three and four year old children of Brookhaven National Laboratory employees.

The children attend school two or three mornings a week and participate in a varied program including art, music, outdoor activities and field trips.

The teachers are professionals and the classes are small enough to give each child the attention he needs. The teacher is assisted by one parent in each class at each session. Parents cooperate in the running of the nursery school which enables us to keep the tuition fee low. Car pools are also available.

There are still openings for the coming year. If you are interested in enrolling your child please call Anne Garrett, 286-1825, for further information.

The children can play a quiet game of Lotto . . .

. . . or "let off some steam" on the slide.

Water Carnival Huge Success

Four hundred happy youngsters laughing, rooting, splashing, and jumping in the swimming pool! No, it was not Jones Beach or Coney Island; it was the annual Water Carnival at the Lab pool.

Joining the kids were parents and friends who proudly watched the competitions in various events ranging from crazy dives off the board at the deep end, to pushing a ping-pong ball in the shallow end. Other great contests included the penny fetch, kickboard races, the swim for speed races, blowing up a balloon under water (for long-winded children), carrying the birdie, and the ever popular candle race with the lights out. This was a spectacular affair with gay decorations and watermelon for all when the night ended.

A special note of thanks goes to the Recreation Staff for the wonderful job they have done this summer. Nice going!

Monsters Galore

Last Friday morning the Recreation Staff held its last Friday special for the morning recreation program. The mood of Monster Day was enhanced by the thunder and lightning provided by Mother Nature that morning.

Forty monsters of all descriptions paraded around the Recreation Building having their costumes judged. The three-headed monster was chasing the mummy while the crab man was attacking the wolf man. It was worse than a Lon Chaney movie!

After the costumes were judged, the children retired to the TV room to watch "Abbott and Costello Meet Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde", while popcorn was being made in the kitchen. After the movie, prizes were awarded and special certificates were given to the children in the program.

A special thanks to the mothers who volunteered their help and lemonade for the success of the program.

See you next summer!

Streakers defeat Converts - Phoubars annihilated by the Charlie Browns. After a slow start the Streakers really lived up to their name and took the second half championship going away! Once again clean living and conditioning pay off! This week will tell the story as the Charlie Browns and the Phoubars play off for the first half. The winner will play the Streakers for all the marbles. This season has been one of the most exciting in this reporter's memory. The teams were evenly matched and the outcome of both the first and second half were in doubt up until the final week. Good luck to all in the play-offs and may the devil take the hind-most!

Placement Notices

Each week the Personnel Office lists personnel placement requisitions, currently being processed. The purpose of these listings is, first, to give notice of all non-scientific staff positions being filled and, second, to give employees an opportunity to request consideration for themselves through the Personnel Office. In filling vacancies, the Laboratory's objective is to give first consideration to present employees, as follows: employees within the immediate group having the vacancy, employees within the department or division, employees within the Laboratory as a whole.
