

Performance Appraisal Guidance on DEI Goals

This document is intended to assist departments and staff in further developing Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) goals for Performance Appraisals. DEI goals should aim to provide impact and value to the organization by first providing impact and value directly to employees – this includes the individual, others within the organization, and/or external to the organization in the spirit of and in representation of the Lab. Achieving this will require a work environment and culture that promotes equity, supports diversity, and requires inclusion. To better attain these goals already included in the Human Resources process of goal setting, a common set of element definitions for DEI is necessary for consistent evaluation throughout the Lab, as follows:

- Diversity: Diversity is difference in individual attributes like national origin, race, disability, gender, age, religion, socioeconomic status, sexual orientation, veteran status, and family structure.
- Equity: An equitable work environment gives everyone access to the same opportunities. Support for equity acknowledges that people start out with different advantages and seeks to eliminate barriers to success.
- Inclusion: Harnessing the strength derived from differences through an environment of belonging, where all are welcomed, valued, respected, and invited to fully participate.

The DEI Office and HR suggest the list of activities in Table 1 as examples of DEI activities – categorized within the three elements described above and based on impact to the person or Personal Impact (the individual), Group Impact (the BNL functional unit or department) and Organizational Impact (BNL/DOE). The overall DEI goal will consist, at minimum, two activities from any of the three categories identified in Table 1. The Suggested Grading Table serves as a guide for managers and supervisors to identify the final performance level for the DEI goal based on the impact of the selected activities from Table 1.

However, members of staff satisfactorily completing only Personal Impact activities on a bi-monthly interval for a total of six Personal Impact activities for the fiscal year can result in an Exceeded Expectation performance. Similarly, Group Impact activities on a quarterly interval for a total of four Group Impact activities can also result in an Exceeded Expectation performance.

Suggested Grading Table:

	Below Expectation		Achieved Expectation		Exceeded Expectation
Activity 1	P	P	P	G	G	O
Activity 2	P	G	O	G	O	O
Legend:	P = Personal Impact
	G = Group Impact
	O = Organizational Impact

Table 1 serves as a guide for Brookhaven Lab staff to develop performance appraisal DEI goals by referencing the goal descriptions but are not limited to the suggested examples. Individuals and their supervisors requiring extra support in crafting these goals should contact the DEI Office for further assistance.

Note:

According to the Department of Labor “for federal contractors and subcontractors, affirmative action must be taken by covered employers to recruit and advance qualified minorities, women, persons with disabilities, and covered veterans. Affirmative actions include training programs, outreach efforts, and other positive steps.” Some of our goal types will then be directed towards affirmative action-targeted (AAT) protected classes: qualified minorities, women, persons with disabilities, and covered veterans.
