

The counting house started to get filled up.

There was a lot to do and some of the clearances were very tight so we were all very proud at the end!

